

Pineapple

Kew Pineapple

The Kew Pineapple is a late-maturing variety and is the leading commercial variety in India, especially valued for its canning quality.

- Weight: 2-3 kg
- Shape: Oblong, slightly tapering towards the crown
- Eyes: Broad and shallow, making it ideal for canning

When fully ripe, the fruit has a yellow color with light yellow flesh, which is almost fibreless and very juicy. It contains 0.6-1.2% acidity and a TSS content ranging from 12-16 Brix, making it perfect for processing into canned products.

Queen Pineapple is a smaller variety with a weight of 1-1.5 kg.

- Color: When fully ripe, the fruit is golden-yellow with deep golden-yellow flesh inside.
- Texture: The flesh is crispy and has a pleasant aroma, though it is slightly less juicy than other varieties like Cayenne.
- Acidity: Ranges from 0.6% to 0.8%
- TSS: The TSS content is between 15-16 Brix, indicating a sweet and flavorful taste.

This variety is known for its rich flavor and unique texture, making it popular for fresh consumption and processing.
